

Abstract

The present invention provides a presentation system for printing an electronic image directly to a writing surface. The present invention provides a printer configured to print an image on the writing surface. In one
5 embodiment, the writing surface is made of an impervious or non-absorptive material and the printer is adapted to print with ink that is erased readily by wiping with cloth or paper.

098942 062601
"09290" 22726860